A brief Eſſay to promote a religious improvement of this preceding Calender.

CHriſtian (who ever thou art, into whoſe hands the foregoing Account of this following year ſhall come) thou art deſired to take notice, that the Compoſer of this (his intended laſt of this kind) hath a deſigne, through and beyond the glittering out-ſide of the beautiful Heavens, to lead thee into the Palace of the inconceivably glorious King; where, what is to be ſeen and Everlaſtingly enjoyed, is far above mine (or of Angels) ability to relate, or thine to underſtand. Though I never was ſo Aſtrologically opinionated, as to think that the Stars were intended for windows, through which poor mortals might peep and ſteal a look into the ſacred Decrees, and ſecret Counſels of the moſt High; yet ſure I am, they are a conſiderable part of the Heavenly Hoſt, Deut.4.19. [illegible] which as Inſtruments the Soveraign Lord and Ruler of the World bringeth about and Effecteth great things, Judg.5.20. and there is a way to man, paſt finding out, Job.9.9,10. and Chap.38.31,32. By their Light, the poor Heathen from their dark Dungeon could diſcern an Eternal Almighty Deity, Rom.1.20. how much more of the Admirable glory of that firſt and beſt of Beings, who made and upholdeth all things by the word of his Power, may Chriſtians be advantaged, from their Mount of Viſion, to diſcover and obſerve. May they not be looked at as the Imbelliſhment and Imbroydery of the beautiful Cover of the great Volume of our Heavenly Makers works; or a Divine Hymne, printed off in Legible Capitals, to be made uſe of by all the Sons of God, Job.38.7. in ſinging out the high praiſes of the ever-glorious Creator, Pſal.19.1. [illegible] and 148.3. Their number none can count, nor meaſure their Stupendious diſtance from this Earthly Globe, nor determine their Magnitudes, vaſtly tranſcending, what by Ocular Inſpection do ſenſibly appear. The great God by his Spirit hath garniſhed the Heavens—Lo theſe are part of his wayes: but how little a portion is heard of him? but the thunder of his Power, who can underſtand, Job.26.13,14. To ſpeak Truth, nothing conſiderable of this piece of his works is known by the wiſeſt and beſt learned of men, but their motions, concerning which from long experience, frequent, careful and exact obſervation, [illegible]
